

CALL FOR PAPERS

3rd CEPR/EBRD/Economics of Transition/LSE Symposium on “Environmental Economics and the Green Transition”

13-14 June 2019, EBRD, London

Submission deadline: 8 February 2019

You are invited to submit a paper to the 3rd CEPR/EBRD/Economics of Transition/LSE Symposium on environmental economics and the green transition in advanced and emerging markets. The symposium will provide a platform for researchers and policy makers to discuss new research and to identify areas where further academic and policy-oriented work is needed. Papers are invited on the following (non-exhaustive) list of topics:

- The impact of environmental quality on individual productivity, employment, and well-being
- The impact of climate change on emerging markets
- The role of governments and firms in fighting climate change
- Firm-level energy efficiency and how to improve it
- Climate change and economic (in)equality across and within countries
- Greening the financial system
- Corporate environmental responsibility
- Climate change and agricultural productivity
- Stranded assets for energy and carbon intensive industries
- Agency and governance problems that distort corporate climate risk management
- Environmental policies and macroeconomic dynamics
- Behavioural foundations of environmentally (un-)friendly consumer actions
- The environment and network effects

The symposium features keynote talks by Catherine Wolfram (University of California, Berkeley and NBER) and Arik Levinson (Georgetown University).

Authors of accepted papers will be invited (without obligation) to submit their papers for a special issue of the Economics of Transition and Institutional Change. Accommodation expenses will be covered for speakers and discussants. Travel costs will be reimbursed in accordance with CEPR's expense guidelines: <https://cepr.org/sites/default/files/CEPR%20TRVL%20GUIDELINES%202018.pdf>

To submit a paper (full papers accepted only), please send an email to Lucie Newman at NewmanL@ebrd.com. In the subject header please add “Submission: Environmental Economics and the Green Transition” and nothing else. In the case of multiple-authored papers, indicate who will present and whether or not the presenter would also be willing to act as a discussant. The submission deadline is 8 February 2019 and authors will be notified about the acceptance of papers by 22 March 2019.

The conference will be held at the EBRD, One Exchange Square, London. The conference programme starts on Thursday morning (13 June) and ends on Friday afternoon (14 June).

An invitation-only conference dinner will be held on Thursday evening. Details about the sponsors:
